

Your preliminary analysis is based on your bibliographic, documentary/archival, and field research. For this assignment, you should write 4 – 8 pages in which you detail elements of your data, and demonstrate clearly and precisely the chains of reasoning, assumptions, and perspectives involved in moving from data to conclusions. How have you arrived at the conclusions you have reached regarding your project?

In addition, you may opt to include some discussion of the cultural meanings at play in the language, actions, and behaviors of participants.

Each student must submit their preliminary analysis individually. In addition, we will use these analyses for in-class work on March 24th, so each student must bring 6 hardcopies of their analysis for distribution among small group collaboration members.
